

Services Overview

At CAI, we are your global partner in providing professional services to enhance operational performance and reliability. Since our founding in 1996, we have shepherded strategic projects for some of the highest profile companies in numerous regulated industries. Our clients demand technical and project management expertise, attention to detail, tenacity, innovation, and responsiveness to meet a wide range of requirements and overcome a broad range of contingencies.

And we deliver. Consistently. Expertly. Completely.

Operational Readiness

Living through a manufacturing start-up in pharma is no joke – some say they never forget the experience. Before, project completion came with the final signature on the testing documentation. Now, we all know better. With age comes wisdom, and the industry knows this:

Operational Readiness means that the facility, people, and process are ready to meet market demand. Period.

How to get you to Operational Readiness (OR) is CAI's goal. We've developed an online assessment to help evaluate your operational readiness maturity.

What is Your Current Level of Operational Readiness?

Take this 3-minute assessment and put wisdom to work! Once completed, CAI will send you a custom report outlining:

- Your maturity score
- Areas of improvement
- Potential gaps and needs
- Customized recommendations to help improve your operational readiness
